AP
2
.AJJ2
V.5
1880

TABLE OF CONTENTS.

PAGE

PRETENDED UNITY OF MODERN PHILOSOPHY. By Rev. J. Ming, S. J., . 1

The manner of treating the subject of idealism, 1; Des Cartes's admission as to the foundation of certitude, 2; How he explained his theory, 3; Insufficiency of his remedy, 4; How Kant laid the foundation of his system, 5; How the absolute must be known, 6; The idealists and the idea of the absolute, 8; Development of thought in their systems, 10; Absurdities follow from their suppositions, 11; The idealists have not built up, but destroyed unity, 13; They themselves saw these failings, 14; Union of the logical and the ontological principles—Is it real? 15; Fichte's reasoning and Schelling's platonism, 16; Hegel's proof for the identity of being and thinking, 18; Cognition and representation, 19; Thought and being, 20; The identity of thinking and being not proved by reason, 21; How the principle of free will is involved in this discussion, 23; Idealism dastroys morality, 24; It has raised prejudices against scholastic philosophy, 25; Concluding remarks on subjective tendency, 26.

VOCATIONS TO THE PRIESTHOOD. By Rt. Rev. Thomas A. Becker, D.D., . 29

Importance of securing a well-trained clergy, 29; Nature of the vocation, 30; Rules for knowing vocations, 31; Numerous and serious difficulties in the way, 33; Plans for supporting the seminaries, 34; Duty of the Bishops to look out for candidates, 35; Duties of those in charge of their education, 36; Difficulties in the way of the secular priest, 37; A priest's education, 37, 38.

SOCIALISM AT THE PRESENT DAY. By Rev. Aug. J. Thebaud, S. J., . . 39

The political economists of a hundred years ago, 39; Introduction of new principles into the old school, 41; Spreading the new ideas by political agitation, 42; Failure of the Manchester school, 42; New principles adopted by the theorists, 43; Herbert Spencer's ingenious theory, 44; The German sociologists and the Spencerian doctrine, 45; Develoment of disagreements among them, 46; State omnipotence as taught in the German universities, 47; The great difficulty attending all systems of political economy, 49; Answer to the arguments in favor of the State, 50; Bismarck and the new philosophy, 51; The International, 52; The Labor Party in the United States, 54; The German element in our population, 55; Dangerous character of the secret societies, 56; Extent of the conspiracy, 57; Principles to which the growth of the evil has been attributed, 58; Sketch of the true social ideal, 59; The theories of the strict evolutionists not grounded on solid principle, 60; The family of primary importance in every social system, 62; Morality is the universal substratum of social laws, 63; Religion and the State, 64; No true human society without a belief in the hereafter, 66.

THE NECESSITY FOR INFALLIBILITY. By Dr. Daniel Gans, . . . . . 67

Erroneous notions about infallibility, 67; Where is the absurdity of the dogma? 68; Revelation and man's erring judgment, 69; The course which reason should take regarding them, 71; Infallibility equal in importance to revelation, 71; Faith not a mere opinion, 72; The condition on which the essential unity of faith depends, 73; Necessity of authority both in the family and in the State, 74; The moral law as compared with the civil, 75; The voice of God the sole authority for conscience, 76; Protestantism and divine authority, 77; Infallibility and liberty, 78; What kind of government infallibility has given to the Church, 79; Granting its necessity how can infallibility be absent, 81; Where is this infallibility? 82.

ARCHBISHOP GIBBONS AND HIS EPISCOPALIAN CRITIC, DR. STEARNS. By A. de G., . . . . . 84

Is Dr. Stearns' book, "The Faith of our Forefathers," a refutation of Archbishop Gibbons' "Faith of our Fathers?" 84; Causes of the great success of the last named work, 85; How the leaders of "advanced" thought claim to reject the supernatural order, 86; Benefits resulting from the intellectual movement of our day, 87; The "Faith of our Fathers" written to meet a want, 88; Its favorable reception making Protestantism uneasy, 89; The age of violent controversy is past, 90; How Dr. Stearns compiled his work, 91; His accusations against Archbishop Gibbons, 92; Shortcomings of his arguments, 93; Examples of his "logic," 96; Dr. Stearns' charge is garbling under aggravated circumstances, 98; Discussing the Sacrament of Penance, 99: Other instances of Dr. Stearns' acute mode of reasoning, 103; His book has had but little influence, 104.

PAGE

ENGLISH MANNERS. By Arthur F. Marshall, B. A., Oxon, . . . . . 105

Society largely affected by political and historical institutions, 105; The English anomalous yet consistent, 105; Distinction by title, 106; Manners among the middle classes, 107; Bad and good manners in England, 108; But little intercourse between different classes of Englishmen, 109; The true test of good breeding, 110; The unreality of public manners and the unreality of character, 111; A pure Catholic Society would present the most typical code of manners, 112.

IS FROUDE A HISTORIAN? By J. Gilmary Shea, LL.D., . . . . . 113

What the use of the epithet "Romanism" indicates, 113; Mr. Froude's position in this instance, 114; Relation of Catholicism to the Government of the United States, 115; The charter of Maryland, 116; Catholics in the other colonies, 117; Attempts to overthrow Catholicity in Canada, 118; Catholics in the Revolution, 119; Position of the Church a hundred years ago, 120; Where early American Catholics came from, 121; Mr. Froude on Catholics and the Constitution, 122; A religion has been "established" in spite of the Constitution, 124; Liberty of speech and of the press a fiction, 126; Mr. Froude's ignorance of the Church's teachings, 127; The unanimous voice of American Catholic writers, 128; Mr. Froude knows nothing of the elements of Catholicity in this country, 130; His twaddle on the school question and other subjects, 131; Catholics and the census, 133; Actual position of the Catholic body in the United States, 134; Catholics must soon take a more active interest in politics, 135; Signs of a new movement against Catholics, 136.

INSANITY AS A PLEA FOR CRIMINAL ACTS; INSANITY AS EMOTIONAL OR EFFECTIVE; AND, WHETHER INSANITY CAN BE OF THE WILL ALONE. By Rev. Walter H. Hill, S. J., . . . . . 137

Mental insanity an obscure and difficult subject to treat, 137; Importance of the questions raised by it, 138; Definition of insanity, 139; Public sympathy for criminals, 139; Some rules laid down by the courts, 140; Difference of opinion as to mental weaknesses, 142; Questions proposed to the judges by the British Parliament, 143; Maudsley's criticism on the answers to these questions, 145; Teaching of the physiologists on this subject, 146; How Maudsley accounts for the origin of conscience, 147; Grounds for opposing his teaching, 148; What the materialistic medical authorities mean by moral insanity, 149; Emotional insanity, 150; If the intellect is sane, so must the will, 151; "Morbid perversion of moral sentiments," 153; "Delusional insanity," 154; St. Thomas on this subject, 155; What is the "sensus communis?" 156; Some conclusions furnished by psychology, 158; What we learn by reflecting on our own thoughts, 160; Seat of the disease called mental insanity, 163; Summing up the main theses proposed in this article, 165.

THE STACK-O'HARA CASE. By S. L. M., . . . . . 166

The bench and politics, 166; Strength of Bishop O'Hara's case, 168; The decision in the case referred to manifestly wrong, 169; History of the trouble, 170; Weaknesses of Father Stack's position, 171; The Bishop appeals from an absurd and illegal sentence, 172; Discussing the Supreme Court's decision of November 13th, 1877, 172; The decision and the American Constitution, 175; The plaintiff's relation to the Williamsburg Church, 176; What the State courts have really undertaken to do, 177.

PUBLIC EDUCATION IN FRANCE—THE FERRY BILL. By Rev. Aug. J. Thebaud, S. J., . . . . . 193

Interest of the present struggle in France to Catholics, 193; Relations of Church and State in that country, 194; The revival of learning and the Revolution, 195; Restoration of order by Napoleon—The Bourbons, 197; The July Monarchy and its public men, 198; Education in 1850, 199; The Church and education at that time, 201; The first Jesuit schools of the revival period, 202; Opinions of leading journalists on the religious question, 203; The question of free universities, 205; Agitation for the repeal of the University Law of 1875, 206; The Ferry Bill and its seventh clause, 207; The great danger to religion becomes more ominous than ever, 210; The question is referred to the Councils General, 211; Protest of the Bishops, 212; Petitions against the bill, 213; Authorized and non-authorized religious orders, 215; What it is proposed to do with the Jesuits' pupils, 216; The influence of Freemasonry in the Ferry projects, 217; France now divided into two camps, 219; Postscript—Defeat of the Ferry Bill in the Senate, 219.

THE SIXTH NICENE CANON AND THE PAPACY. By Rev. James F. Loughlin, D. D., . . . . . 220

The main object of this canon is to confirm the privileges of the See of Alexandria, 220; How far it is clear and reasonable, 221; Importance of the original text of the canon, 222; What said the Council of Nicæa regarding the Roman Pontiff, 223; Correct translation of the disputed passage, 224; Meaning, scope, and bearing of the words of the canon, 225; Bellarmine's interpretation the only unexceptionable one, 227; Arguments in its favor, 228; The Sees of Rome and Byzantium at that period, 231; The decree an acknowledgment of the primacy of the Apostolic See, 233; The question of interpolation, 235; Position and prerogatives of the Holy See at the time of the Council, 237.

PAGE

THE LAWS OF THE CHURCH WITH REGARD TO SECRET SOCIETIES. By Rev. C. Coppens, S. J., . . . . . 239

What laws has the Church enacted against secret societies? 239; The reason why the Church has legislated as she has done, 241; Secret societies in the various European countries, 243; The oath of secrecy as a reason for condemnation, 245; The spirit of indifferentism is another reason, 247; What societies are condemned by the Church, 248; Archbishop Hughes on secret associations, 251.

AMERICAN RATIONALISM. By Rev. H. A. Brann, D. D., . . . . . 252

Who the apostles of rationalism are in this country, 252; What is the charm in their doctrines, 253; The principle of rationalism is that every man's hat should be his own church steeple, 255; The devil and the rationalists, 255; Some of the defects of American rationalism, 256; Rationalists the only true Protestants, 257; The reductio ad absurdum argument as applied to rationalism, 259; Its fallacy proved from higher grounds, 260; Other arguments that might be used against it, 262.

ANGLICAN DEVELOPMENT. By Arthur F. Marshall, B. A., Oxon., . . . 263

Why there is so little Ritualism in the United States, 263; The attitude of ritualists towards Catholicity, 264; No room for further development in Protestantism, 265; How Ritualism has been developed, 266; The Church under the Stuarts, 268; Evangelicism, 269; Puseyism, 270; Historical Ritualism and Erastianism, 275.

THE REHABILATION OF CATHOLIC TERMS IN DICTIONARIES OF THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE. By J. Gilmary Shea, LL.D., . . . . . 272

Shameful treatment of Catholic terms in our Dictionaries, 272; Now is the time to bring up this subject, 273; Ignorance of so-called learned men concerning Catholic customs, 274; The war on devotional language in England, 275; Our devotional language bears the imprint of high descent, 276; Some examples of the ideas conveyed by our dictionaries, 277; A clue to the whole matter, 279; Confused ideas about the Mass, the sacraments, etc., 281; A word's meaning illustrated by an example, 283; Opprobrious epithets and insulting words, 284; The true remedy for this state of affairs, 285; A glossory of ecclesiastical terms needed in this country, 286.

NOTES ON SPAIN. By St. George Mivart, F.R.S., F.Z.S., Sec'y L.S., . . . 288

Hints encouraging tourists to visit Spain, 288; On both sides of the Pyrenees, 289; The Basque provinces, 290; Burgos and its cathedral, 291; Valladolid, 292; Avila, one of the holy cities of Spain, 293; Sunday ceremonies in its cathedral, 294; Its great dominican monastery, 295; The Escurial, 296; Madrid and its points of interest, 297; City and Church of Toledo, 299; A great occasion at the cathedral, 301; The old Mozarabic rite, 302; Peculiarities about it, 304.

A QUESTION ON LAUGHTER. By H. S. Richards, . . . . . 305

Importance of a good hearty laugh, 305; Boisterous laughing censured, 306; An attempt to define laughter, 307; What it implies, 308; Laughter in itself is not degrading, 309; Relations of grief and mirth, 310; Laughter as regarded our Saviour, 311.

THE LATE ENCYCLICAL ON CHRISTIAN MARRIAGE. By Very Rev. James A. Corcoran, D.D., . . . . . 312

Proper title of the Encyclical, 312; How the Holy Father treats the subject, 313; The church transforming the pagan world, 314; The Christian theory of marriage was not called in question until the Reformation, 416; The reformers apparently considered it their mission to degrade matrimony, 317; How they accomplished their object, 318; Trying to justify their novelties by scripture, 319; The early reformers fought the battles of heathenism, 322; Divorces in England, 323; How divorce has crept into Catholic countries, 325; The "philosophers" and the marriage question, 326; Recent French revolutions, 329; Divorce alarmingly on the increase in the Protestant portions of Europe, 330.

EPISTOLA ENCYCLICA LEONIS PAPÆ XIII, . . . . . 332

TRANSLATION OF THE ENCYCLICAL LETTER OF HIS HOLINESS, LEO XIII, 346

LATIN TEXT AND TRANSLATION OF THE LETTER OF THE ARCHBISHOPS AND BISHOPS OF THE PROVINCES OF NEW YORK, BOSTON, AND PHILADELPHIA, TO HIS HOLINESS, LEO XIII, . . . . . 361

THE CHARACTER OF SANCTITY IN THE CATHOLIC CHURCH. By Rev. Aug. J. Thebaud, S.J., . . . . . 385

The ideal plan of Christ's Church has been carried out, 385; Teachings of some modern moralists regarding life, 386; The Church enforcing Christ's moral code, 387; The Church is the sole preserver of true virtue on earth, 388; This is true not only in point of fact, but of doctrine as well, 389; Strict Protestants as self-appointed moral teachers, 390; The condition of affairs in Catholic countries not so bad as they represent, 393; The true feeling of universal manhood preserved in France, 395; True philantropy exemplified as regards France and England, 397; The intuitive philosophers as teachers of morals, 398; Mr. Lecky on the Church's sanctity, 399; His reproaches based on ignorance, 400; Necessity of what is called the "order of grace," 401; Mr. Lecky on the reliability of his own school, 402; The rationalists cannot understand Christianity, 404; Virtue essentially a part of the Christian scheme, 405; Strength of the objection to this claim, 406; The claim of the Positivists as regards morality, 407; Mr. Mallock criticises their teaching, 409; Where the Positivists are most inconsistent, 411; Inferiority of Protestant morality conclusively proved, 413; A Catholic's advantages, 415.

PAGE

PHYSIOLOGY AND MODERN MATERIALISM. By C. M. O'Leary, M.D., Ph.D., . . . . . 416

The new science of physiological psychology, 416; The hypostatic union in man and modern discoveries regarding the mind, 418; Modern physiologists on mind and matter—Dr. Maudsley as a type of them, 420; His language touching the value of metaphysics, 421; What he thinks of the functions of biography, 422; The method employed by the metaphysician, 424; Reflex and direct consciousness, 425; In general, can consciousness be employed satisfactorily? 427; Can self-consciousness furnish information in the generality of cases? 429; Dr. Maudsley's irritability towards stubborn facts, 430; He supposes mind to consist entirely in nerve-change, 432; Facts which seemingly prove unconscious cerebration, 434; What they really mean, 435.

POSITION OF THE INTELLECTUAL WORLD AS REGARDS RELIGION. By A. de G., . . . . . 436

The array of ability now engaged in considering the religions question, 436; How Mr. Mallock appreciates the subject, 437; The influence of science upon modern society, 438; The positions on which modern science rests, 439; The scope of philosophy, 441; Morality and the religion of taste, 442; Consciousness and science, 443; Science and the doctrine of the Trinity, 444; Mr. Mallock on Protestant sects and prejudices against Catholicity, 447; False teachers of Christianity, 449; How Rome acts in these matters, 450; Ritualism and Catholicity in England, 451; How happiness can be secured by all, 452.

NOTES ON SPAIN—PART II. By St. George Mivart, F.R.S., F.Z.S., Sec'y L. S., . . . . . 453

Ceremonies in Toledo Cathedral—The Mozarabic compared with other ancient rites, 453; Returning to Madrid, 455; Various points of interest in Southern Spain, 456; The "Mesquita" of Cordova, 457; The journey to Seville, 458; The Cathedral of this city and its valuable treasures, 459; To Cadiz and back in one day, 461; Adventures of a pedestrian tourist, 463; A pilgrimage to the University of Seville, 464; San Telmo and Alcazar, 465; The climate of Seville, 466; This compared with some of the other cities of Spain, 467.

THE CONFLICT OF CHRISTIANITY WITH HEATHENISM. By Rt. Rev. John J. Keane, D.D., . . . . . 468

Dr. Uhlhorn's work with the above title, 468; His picture of the world at the dawn of Christianity, 469; The establishment of the Church has no parallel, 470; The Church and the gentile world, 471; Christianity satisfied the necessity of the human race, 473; The early Church and the Roman Empire, 474; Christianity spreads its influence everywhere, 476; The internal trials of the Church during the period of persecution, 477; The lesson of the three first centuries, 478; Heathenism the great enemy of the Church now as then, 479; Agnostic evolutionism as expounded by Mr. Leslie Stephen, 480; Reason for the existence of good and evil in the world, 482; Christianity ever triumphant over its great enemy, heathenism, 484.

A PIONEER OF THE WEST—REV. CHARLES NERINCKX. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., . . . . . 486

State of Catholicity in this country at the close of the last century, 486; Fathers Galitzin and Nerinckx, 487; The biographer's work, 488; Father Nerinckx's family and early education 489; He begins missionary work in his native land, 490; Persecution under the French Republic, 491; Decides to enter upon the American mission, 492; Goes to Kentucky—Vicissitudes of the Church there a century ago, 493; Father Nerinckx's active missionary work in the West, 494; His love for children, 495; Disappointment and resignation, 496; Offered a bishopric, which he declined, 497; He gives an account of his labors, 498; Bishop Flaget and Father Nerinckx—the latter opens a school, 499; Progress of the good work—Profession of Sisters, 500; Father Nerinckx revisits Europe, 501; Returns with a contingent of recruits and a large quantity of valuable articles, 502; Resumes missionary success and church building, 503; Gathering recruits for the Kentucky mission, 504; How his career of usefulness was brought to an end, 506; He bids farewell to his missions, 507; The influence he exercised and the memory he has left, 508.

AUBREY DE VERE'S POEMS. By M. F. S., . . . . . 509

Mathew Arnold as a critic and as a poet, 509; His views on philosophical and religious questions, 512; The secret of organic disease in contemporaneous poetry, 513; What it wants of the true inspiration, 514; How much of this Aubrey de Vere has preserved, 515; What Wordsworth has had to do in moulding the character of his verse, 516; Mr. de Vere's poems in this country, 520; Examples illustrating the characteristics of his poetry, 521; His religious and national poems, 524; The volume he has dedicated to the memory of the faithful and true, 530; Mr. de Vere's lineage and conversion to the true faith, 532.

PAGE

THE RECENT MINISTERIAL CHANGE IN ENGLAND. By J. D. S., . . . 533

The influence operating against the Tories at the last general election, 533; Mr. Gladstone's victory and new ministry, 534; The great questions put to the Liberals, 535; Disappointment at the outset, 537; The Turkish and other difficulties, 538; Indications for the future policy of the Liberals, 539.

SUICIDE CONSIDERED IN ITS MORAL BEARINGS. By James A. Cain, . . 539

False deductions from the frequency of suicides, 539; Definition of suicide—Its moral turpitude, 540; That suicide is a violation of the natural law is shown by considering man as related to himself, 541; Man viewed in relation to a hereafter, 544; So-called arguments used by the advocates of suicide, 547; Unprofitable members of society, 550; Euthanasia, 551; The advocates of suicide really recognize a superior law, 552; The ancients considered suicide a crime against nature, 553; Concluding considerations, 554.

SOME OF THE USES OF THE MICROSCOPE IN SCIENCE. By Rev. D. J. McGoldrick, S.J., . . . . . 555

The microscope something more than a costly toy, 555; Kinds of microscope in use, 555; Its service in destroying insect pests and in examining rocks, 556; The clear insight it gives us into geology, 557.

FREE THOUGHT IN ENGLAND. By Arthur F. Marshall, B. A., Oxon, . . 577

Disposition of the English to idleness, 577; Growth of free thought among them due to idleness, 578; Very little to be admired in the intellectual or moral aspects of free thought, 580; The free thinker must be unhappy, 581; Free thought in England and Mr. Bradlaugh's election, 582; Protestantism is essentially free thought, 583; The authority on which free thinkers depend, 584; How they treat the young, 585.

OUR GREAT GODDESS AND HER COMING IDOL. By John Gilmary Shea, LL.D., . . . . . 586

Bartholdi's great statue, 586; The United States bearing the badges of paganism, 587; The Goddess Liberty in ancient times, 588; How liberty came to be worshipped by the Romans, 589; Temples in her honor erected by them, 590; Respect for the Goddess under the Empire, 591; Her image on the Roman coins and emblems, 592; Revival of her honor in modern times, 593; Her honor in this country due to the struggle of the colonies with England, 594; How she has been represented here, 594; Her place in the French Revolution, 595; Why should we retain the heathen deity, 596.

HOW TO FIND THE TRUTH. By Dr. Daniel Gans, . . . . . 597

Difficulties in the way of the seeker after truth, 597; Dignity and grandeur of the truth, 598; Nothing more important for us than it, 599; It is a certainty, 599; Can the truth be found?—Consequences of denying that it can, 600; This denial as applied to Christianity, 601; We should give up everything to find the truth, 602; The searcher after the truth must be humble, 603; Science and philosophy of but little use in this search, 604; Unity of spiritual truth, 605; Delusion and heresy, 606; The one real issue of the sect system is opposition to the Church, 607; Position of the Greek Church, 608; The Bible in its relation to the sect mind, 609; The spirit which really actuates the sects, 611; How the truth is preserved, 613; How we should stand as regards the truth, 614.

NOTES ON SPAIN (CONCLUSION). By St. George Mivart, F.R.S., etc., . . . 615

Characteristics of Granada, 615; The Alhambra, 616; Peculiarities of Granada's Cathedral, 617; Other points of interest in the old Moorish capital, 618; From Granada to the Mountains, 620; Malaga, the hottest place in Spain, 621; Beauties of the scenery, 621; Points and notes of interest, 622; Club, garden, and castle, 623; How places of interest in southern Spain may be seen, 624; Characteristics of Murcia, one of the gems of Spain, 625; Valencia and the beauties around it, 626; A horribly modernized Gothic Cathedral, 628; Good traits of the Spanish peasantry, 629; Valencia's public institutions, 630; Tarragona, 631; On the way to and a few hours in Barcelona 632; Characteristics of the rebel city, 633; Bidding adieu to Spain, 634; Postscript: Visit to the Jesuits' Ecole Ste. Géneviève at Paris, 635.

AMERICAN INFLUENCE ON THE DEMOCRATIC MOVEMENT IN EUROPE. By John McCarthy, . . . . . 636

The present century is one of democracy, 636; How the change has been brought about, 637; Struggles of the people for power, 638; Popular liberty on this side of the Atlantic, 641; The religious question in the Constitution of the United States, 642; A government of the people, for the people, and by the people, 643; Why America took no part in European revolutions, 643; Emigration to the United States, 644; The success of our system moving Europeans to imitate us, 645; Impediments to political progress in Europe, 646; The lessons of the war to maintain the Union, 647; An American invasion of Europe, 649; Military and social condition of Europe, 650; The influences which this country is exerting on Europe, 651; What there is in our institutions to entice Europeans, 652.

PAGE

CATHOLICITY IN KENTUCKY—THE ELDER FAMILY OF MARYLAND AND KENTUCKY. By B. J. Webb, . . . . . 653

The ancestors of the American Elders, 653; William Elder, 1707–1775, 654; The days of religious persecution in Maryland, 655; William Elder's second marriage—His children, 656; Thomas Elder and his family, 657; He removes to Kentucky, 658; His virtues and those of his children, 659; James Elder, the first Catholic of the name in Kentucky, 661; The late Rev. George A. M. Elder, 664; William Elder, 1757–1822, 665.

BISHOP STEPHENS ON AURICULAR CONFESSION AND PRIVATE ABSOLUTION. By Very Rev. James A. Corcoran, D.D., . . . . . 666

The Protestant Episcopal Church does not believe in confession and absolution, 666; A pet Protestant notion about the confessional, 667; Specimens of "Bishop" Stephens' theology, 668; Protestant authorities against him, 670; Lactantius' test of the true Church, 671; The difference between Catholic truth and Protestant error, 672; St. Clement's Church, Philadelphia, 673; Significance of its submission to Bishop Stephens, 674.

ENGLISH FICTION. By John Gray, . . . . . 675

Richardson's "Pamela"—The first modern English novel, 675; The novel is to-day a power, 676; Advantages of the novel as an advocate of opinion, 677; Good and bad novels, 678; The evil effected by the reading of novels, 679; Moral superiority of English to French and German novels, 681; The good which fiction confers upon the world, 681; How novels stimulate industry, 682; The novel as an agent in redressing wrong, 683.

INFLUENCE OF THE SUN ON TERRESTRIAL MAGNETISM. By Rev. J. M. Degni, S. J., . . . . . 684

Importance of terrestrial magnetism in astronomical studies, 684; History of magnetism, 685; Fundamental principles of the science of magnetism, 686; The earth a huge magnet, 687; Proofs of the sun's influence on terrestrial magnetism, 688; Bearing of the cycle of solar spots on this subject, 689; Solar calorific action and electricity, 691; Location of the sun's spots apparently dependent on some of the planets, 692; The nature of the sun's influence on solar magnetism, 694; The earth is magnetized by electric currents going around it, 696; Explaining the causes of these currents, 697; Probable influence of the planets on terrestrial magnetism, 698; Progress of astronomical and meteorological science, 700.

BEZA AS A TRANSLATOR AND PERVERTER OF GOD'S WORD. By Very Rev. James A. Corcoran, D.D., . . . . . 701

The new edition of the Bible about to be brought out, 701; A specimen of Beza's falsification of the Sacred text, 702; Becoming ashamed of his mean devices, 703; His hatred of the hierarchy, 704; Title and office of a bishop set forth in the New Testament, 705; Beza and the second order of the hierarchy, 707; What he wanted to mean by the term "presbyter" in his version of the Bible, 709; How he perverted Scripture to support his theory of the priesthood, 710; What was distasteful to Beza in the character of the priesthood of the Catholic Church, 712.

DANTE. By ——— . . . . . 715

Condition of the age in which Dante appeared, 715; The poet's family connections, 716; Effect on his career of his relations with Beatrice Portinari, 717; His desire for knowledge and efforts to acquire it, 719; Where he was educated, 720; He engages in political strife, 721; Marriage and death of Beatrice, 722; Why Dante turned his attention to poetry, 723; He forsakes the religious life for the turmoil of politics, 723; His marriage and unhappy married life, 724; Years of study the happiest years of his life, 735; The causes which led to his banishment from Florence, 726; The "Divina Commedia" due most probably to his reverses, 729; How his banishment was brought about, 730; He resigns himself to his fate and becomes a wanderer, 731; He begins his great poem, 732; Another disappointment, 733; Dante permitted to return to Florence under conditions which he scornfully rejects, 734; His residence with Can Grande at Verona, 734; He removes to Ravenna, where he dies after writing his own epitaph, 736; The wounds that fortune dealt him, 737; He is tardily honored by the city that he loved so dearly, 737; What the world owes to Dante, 738; The merits of his great poem, 739; He is the poet of Christianity, 740; Dante's other titles to fame, 741; Translations of the "Commedia," 742; Dante's political opinions, 743; His orthodoxy, 744; The title of his master-piece, 745; Why it was written in the vulgar tongue, 746; The subject of the poem, 747; Dante's work misunderstood and his reputation attacked, 748; The sense in which Dante is the poet of love, 751; Beatrice's influence on his work, 752; Dante's place among the great poets, 754.

BOOK NOTICES.

A History of Philosophy in Epitome..... 768
Alexis Clerc—One of the Jesuits..... 573
"American Catholic Quarterly Review," and the "Faith of our Forefathers"..... 370

Baker's Improved Arithmetics..... 516
Beckwith's Majolica and Fayence..... 188
Bible History..... 575
Boston Natural History Society Publications, 572
Brother Azarias on Psychological Aspects of Education..... 192

Chadwick's Bible of to-day..... 367
Cummings' Spiritual Exercises.....381, 576

Daurée's Etudes Synthétiques de Géologie..... 377
Deharbe's Catechism of the Catholic Religion, 576
De Recidivis et Occasionariis et de Praxi Confessariorum..... 191
Doremus' Great Lights in Sculpture and Painting..... 380
Drane's History of St. Catharine of Sienna.... 566

Egan's Preludes..... 192

Fate of Republics..... 755
Father Cramer's The Christian Mother..... 382
Father Faber's Hymns..... 575
Father Harper's Metaphysics of the School... 384
Father Thebaud's The Church and the Moral World..... 770
Five Minute Sermons. By the Paulist Fathers of New York..... 189
Formby's Philosophy of Ancient History..... 576

Great Speeches and Orations of Daniel Webster..... 188
Greetings to the Christ Child..... 192

Herbert Spencer's Ceremonial Institutions... 384
Herbert Spencer on Education..... 767
Historical and Critical Account of St. Malachy's Prophecy..... 576
Huxley's The Grayfish..... 384, 573

Introductory History of the United States..... 576

Joyce's Blanid..... 384
Joyce's School Grammar of the Irish Language..... 187

Kane's The Lamb of God..... 576
King's Geological Exploration of the 40th Parallel..... 375
Konnigs' Theologia Moralis..... 192

Kossuth's Memories of My Exile..... 762
Krause's Erasmus Darwin..... 384, 570

Lacordaire's Conferences on God and Man... 378
Lays and Legends of Thomond..... 384
Luch's Short Meditations..... 382
Lindsay's Mind in the Lower Animals..... 559
Luis of Grenada's Meditations..... 191

McMahon's Life of St. Benedict..... 383
Maes' Life of Father Nerinckx..... 384
Maudsley's Physiology of Mind..... 384
Miss Mulholland's The Story of Jesus..... 192
Molloy's Passion-Play at Ober-Ammergau.... 384
Moriarty's Stumbling Blocks made Stepping Stones..... 383

Natural Science and Religion..... 575

O'Brien's History of the Mass..... 192
O'Neill's Refutation of Darwinism..... 384, 567

Pachensky's Church of the Parables..... 381
Preston's The Divine Sanctuary..... 576

Rutley's Study of Rocks..... 569

Scharf's History of Maryland..... 190
Segur's Great Truths..... 576
Segur's Short and Familiar Answers..... 576
Segur's Three Roses of the Elect..... 576
Shadows of the Rood..... 383
Sketches of Dominican Saints..... 383
Spalding's Religious Mission of the Irish Race..... 373
Stearns' Faith of our Forefathers..... 178
Surius' Historæ seu Vitæ Sanctorum..... 190
Spiritual Exercises of St. Ignatius..... 571

The Elocutionist..... 574
The Gracchi, Marius and Sulla..... 189
The Illustrated Catholic Annual, 1880..... 192
The Last Monarch of Tara..... 384
The Miraculous Medal..... 574
The Mystery of the Crown of Thorns..... 379
The Pilgrimage of Grace..... 576
The True Faith of our Forefathers..... 769

Vaughan's Reasonableness of Christianity and Shallowness of Unbelief..... 186
Voices from the Heart..... 384

Ward's Selections from the English Poets..... 576

THEOLOGIA MORALIS

NOVISSIMI ECCLESIÆ DOCTORIS, S. ALPHONSI, IN COMPENDIUM REDACTA, ET USUI VENERABILIS CLERI AMERICANI ACCOMMODATA.

AUCTORE A. KONINGS, C. SS. R.

Editio Quarta, auctior et emendatior.

Vol. I. p. xcv., 487. - - Vol. II. p. 473.

NEO-EBORACI, CINCINNATI, S. LUDOVICI, EINSIDLÆ.

BENZIGER FRATRES,

Summi Pontificis Typographi.

LONDINI: BURNS ET OATES.——TORNACI: H. CASTERMAN, VIDUA.

1879.

Quartam hujus operis editionem Venerabili Clero et Seminariorum Alumnis venalem exhibentes, quid ea a præcedentibus præcipue differat, his paucis libet exponere.

Ex iis, quæ Auctor in hac editione emendavit, alia pertinent ad definitiones aliquas clarius datas ;—alia ad principia quædam plenius exposita ;—alia ad resolutiones ac opiniones nonnullas pressius exhibitas vel etiam immutatas ;—alia demum ad argumenta quædam rectius proposita.

Quæ addidit huc fere referuntur. Suis locis vel in Appendice Annotationum inveniuntur:—Romanarum Congregationum declarationes ac decreta (quæ ad rem moralem pertinent) inde a tertia hujus operis editione ad hunc usque diem emanata:—plura quæ pertinent ad Regulares simplicia vota ante Solemnem Professionem emittentes:—ex opere Cl. Capellmann "Pastoral Medecin" excerpta non pauca quæ confessarium ignorare non licet :—responsum S. Pœnitentiariæ circa speciem ac valorem pecuniæ vi contractus mutui mutuatori reddendæ :—declarationes pontificiæ circa juramentum, ab iis qui ad titulum Missionis ordinantur præstandum, ex Bullario S. Cong. de Prop. Fide exscriptæ :—brevis expositio eorum quæ juxta Liturgicarum Regularum litteram ac Ecclesiæ mentem de cantu ecclesiastico ab iis, qui hac in re et Scyllam et Charybdim vitare voluerint, tenenda sunt ac servanda :—pœnitentiæ sacramentales quæ, spectatis hodiernis moribus, utilius imponuntur, earumque, pro casuum diversitate, ad peccata salubriter castiganda et emendanda adaptatio :—terminologia materiæ dispensationum matrimonialium propria :—causæ dispensationum matrimonialium et experimenda in earum petitione, juxta novissimam S. Cong. de Prop. Fide Instructionem :—responsa ad postulata quædam Patrum Synodi Plenariæ Manutianæ circa facultates Episcoporum ac domicilium pro Matrimonio ineundo :—plura circa ritum in Sacramentorum administratione servandum, ex præclaro opusculo Cl. De Herdt "Praxis Ritualis Romani" mutuata :—Instructio S. Sedis de causis criminalibus Clericorum et responsa ad dubia circa eam.

Opus duobus voluminibus compactum venit $6 ; unico $5.

Impensae pro mittendis voluminibus constant 50 c.

BENZIGER FRATRES.

CONTENTS, OCTOBER, 1880.

VOLUME V.—NUMBER 20.

I. FREE THOUGHT IN ENGLAND,
Arthur F. Marshall. 577

II. OUR GREAT GODDESS AND HER COMING IDOL,
John Gilmary Shea, LL D. 586

III. HOW TO FIND THE TRUTH,
Dr. Daniel Gans. 597

IV. NOTES ON SPAIN—Conclusion,
St. George Mivart, F.R.S., etc. 615

V. AMERICAN INFLUENCE ON THE DEMOCRATIC MOVEMENT IN EUROPE,
John MacCarthy. 636

VI. CATHOLICITY IN KENTUCKY—THE ELDER FAMILY,
Benedict J. Webb. 653

VII. BISHOP STEVENS ON AURICULAR CONFESSION AND PRIVATE ABSOLUTION,
Very Rev. J. A Corcoran, D.D., 666

VIII. ENGLISH FICTION,
John Gray. 675

IX. INFLUENCE OF THE SUN ON TERRESTRIAL MAGNETISM,
Rev. J. M. Degni, S. J. 684

X. BEZA AS A TRANSLATOR AND PERVERTER OF GOD'S WORD,
J. A. C. 701

XI. DANTE. 715

XII. BOOK NOTICES. 755
Fate of Republics—Memories of My Exile—Education: Intellectual, Moral, and Physical—The True Faith of Our Forefathers—The Church and the Moral World—A History of Philosophy in Epitome.